You're good to go!

MY ENGINE NEVER OVERHEATS.

WHY SHOULD I GET A COOLING SYSTEM SERVICE?

If you don't have the full answer you may end up in trouble. It would seem that if your engine is running at the proper temperature that everything must be OK? But the fact is that engine overheating is the most common cause of mechanical failure for engines. So how do you get from "everything is fine" to suddenly overheating and potential engine damage?

Truth is, it's not a sudden process, and it's often an invisible one. Your engine coolant circulates through your engine where it absorbs heat and then flows through the radiator where it is cooled - and then back to the engine again. As long as the coolant is able to flow freely - and there are no leaks - then the coolant can do its job. This is the point where drivers have to look deeper.

The cooling system is its own environment: very hot, with a number of reactive materials like various types of metal, plastics and rubber. Over time the coolant becomes corrosive. Small pieces of metal and other materials flake off and circulate in the coolant. As these bits start to clog up the small passages in the radiator, they restrict the coolant flow, leading to overheating. Corrosive coolant can actually eat away at the system and cause leaks as well.

New coolant is full of anti-corrosion additives. These additives neutralize the reactions that lead to corrosion. The additives are eventually used up, leaving the cooling system unprotected.

This is why your service advisor and the team at Auto Select provides recommendations for when your cooling system should be serviced. We can also test your coolant for freeze point and PH to see if it needs to be replaced (if you've added straight water to the system these numbers may be off). You need to get fresh coolant in there to continue to protect against corrosion.

So drivers who've gone beyond the recommended service interval should take care of this maintenance service to prevent unnecessary repairs down the road. Check out this month's savings on service for your vehicle's cooling system.

Here's what our clients are saying...

Quick and efficient work with great quality to go with it. Was able to call at about 8am and had my car back and fixed by 2pm. Definite go to for all your car needs. Nick J., Appleton East

First time I went to Auto Select, I was on my way out of town & needed to get my oil changed quickly. Very pleased with the service I received. I also liked that they checked the pressure on my tires. Linda D., Appleton Express

High recommended! I found Tony's team through AAA approved mechanics. I went in to repair a stripped oil drain plug caused by the dealer who wanted $thousands to replace the entire oil pan. This shop took a look and said they can repair it and explained the risks upfront so there are no surprises. Their skilled technician was able to repair it and the oil leak is now resolved. A job well done! Jorge, Appleton North

We are repeat customers now. Great service, responsible prices, and nice guys. They took the time to chat about the options. Very pleased with them. Tonya F., Neenah

Auto Select East Green Bay has outstanding customer service. Always go above and beyond. While there they even put my new license plates on for me! Thnx guys! Peggy V., Green Bay East

The whole team here is wonderful. Extremely knowledgeable and great at explaining what was going on with our car. There was no pressure to buy services I didn't want, but they did highlight a few items that should be addressed. Now I have a car that works, and an accurate idea of what I should be planning for the next time I bring it in. Benjamin C., Green Bay West

I can't recommend Auto Select enough! They are so good to their customers and they always go above and beyond to make the auto repair process as painless as possible. Can't imagine going anywhere else. Shannon P., Stevens Point South

I have had a few things done here. Tire rotation, oil changes, engine work, new tire replaced and every time it was the BEST experience one could ask for. Very professional people who care about their customers. I definitely recommend giving them a call for all your car needs. Nate H., Stevens Point Express

The team here is always really helpful and great to work with. My kids and I barely had time to go over to get some ice cream from Dairy Queen and we saw the truck coming out of the shop - super fast! Steven S., Stevens Point East

The service we received was incredible. We got our van back prior to the day of our scheduled appointment. The service team called to let us know what was wrong, how much it would cost. I would definitely use them again. Lisa L., Shawano

Butch, Adam and the rest of the team at Auto Select in Weston do exceptional work. They are the most honest, responsive and hard working team. D., Weston
